TWO OTHER VESSELS ARRIVE.

The City of Pekin and the Oceanic Company's Steamer Australia Reach San Francisco on the Same Day—Nothing of Importance Has Occurred in Honolulu Since the Sailing of the Steamer Warramoo—Minister Thurston Returns to America—President Cleveland Sends Another Batch of Hawaiian Correspondence to Congress.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—The Pacific Mail company's steamer City of Pekin, from Hong Kong and Yokohama via Honolulu, and the Oceanic company's steamer Australia, from Honolulu, arrived here Saturday within a few hours of each other. Both bring full advices in regard to the political affairs on the Hawaiian Islands.

The Pekin has been looked for for two days, but she did not leave Honolulu until Jan. 5, and arrived in the harbor here about 10 o'clock in the morning. The Australia left Honolulu Jan. 6, and arrived here early in the afternoon.

As soon as the Pekin steamed into the harbor the cutter Corwin, which has been in hiding on the San Quentin mud flats, in a remote corner of the bay, for eight days past, immediately weighed anchor and moved to an accessible point opposite the city front, where she assumed a more sociable demeanor than at any other time since her arrival.

The Pekin brought no passengers of special prominence from Honolulu, but the Australia had delegations aboard representing both the provisional government and the ex-queen. Among them were E. C. MacFarlane, A. P. Peterson and Sam Parker of the queen's advisors, and Minister Thurston and E. M. Hatch, the latter being vice president of the advisory council of the provisional government. None of the gentlemen had much to say. Mr. Thurston declared that everything was quiet when he left the islands.

"You have received papers containing President Dole's reply to the demand of Minister Willis," said Mr. Thurston, "and since there have been no happenings worthy of being recorded." A reporter said to him that a statement had been made by a passenger on the City of Pekin, that the health of the queen was bad, and that she was threatened with heart failure. "Do you know whether that is so?"

"There is no truth whatever in it," said the gentleman. "Do you intend going right on to Washington?"

"That is my intention. Regarding my instructions and future actions, I am not at liberty to talk. I believe that the queen is not popular with the royalists in the islands. As she is the only one that could be restored to the throne, they are obliged to accept her; but they are very much dissatisfied with her actions of late, particularly in her not accepting with alacrity the proposition made to restore her."

Mr. Thurston was asked what would have been the outcome if an attempt to restore her by force had been made.

"That is a matter of conjecture," he replied.

From another gentleman on board the Australia it was learned that the correspondence between Willis and Dole is not yet over. The gentleman who gave the information is intimately connected with the provisional government. He said that after Dole had made his reply to the demand of Willis he addressed another letter to the American minister. In his latter communication he pointed out that business was at a standstill, and republicans and royalists alike were not aware which way to turn on account of the policy pursued by the representative of the United States. He, therefore, asked Willis to give him definite information as to what he proposed doing.

As no answer was returned to this letter, President Dole sent another and more urgent one to Willis. This was answered by a brief note in which Willis said he was drawing up a paper which would definitely set forth his intentions, and that he would transmit the same in a few days.

The Australia also brought a statement from a correspondent in Honolulu to the effect that ex-Queen Liliuokalani had entirely abandoned all hope of ever regaining the throne of Hawaii, and is now perfecting arrangements for bringing a claim against the United States for an immense amount of money. The correspondent says that information comes from a source which makes it trustworthy that agents of the ex-queen, now in the United States, have informed her that American sentiment generally is against her restoration and in favor of annexation of the islands, and that all further efforts on her part to regain her lost position will be utterly useless.

It is stated that, acting on this information and in view of the stubborn stand taken by the provisional government, Liliuokalani has concluded to abandon the struggle to restore former conditions and will seek pecuniary solace in a claim for heavy damages against the American government. It is understood that her action will be taken upon statements made in her favor by President Cleveland in his messages to congress, by Secretary of State Graham in his letter to President Cleveland, and by Commisssioner Mount in the report of his investigations and upon the further fact that in recognizing the justice of her cause and acknowledging that a wrong has been done her, the United States endeavored to induce the provisional government to surrender in her favor.

The fact that three such prominent supporters of the ex-queen as Sam Parker, A. P. Peterson and E. C. MacFarlane arrived here together gave rise to a report that they were going to Washington in the interest of Liliuokalani. MacFarlane denied that his visit here has any political significance. He says he is here for his health and will return to Honolulu by steamer next Saturday.

Parker is here to see Claus Spreckels and C. S. Bishop about his financial affairs, which are badly involved, and Peterson is here as Parker's attorney. Parker's estate is heavily mortgaged to Spreckels and Bishop, and if their business can be accomplished in time they, too, will return home next Saturday.

Mr. MacFarlane says there is not the slightest danger of bloodshed in Hawaii, and the royalists have no arms, and it would be foolish for them to fight. They are confident that their cause is just and that congress will restore the queen.

"All business in Honolulu is nearly ruined," said MacFarlane, "and the question of government should be settled without further delay. If congress decides to put the queen back, let it be done at once. If annexation is to be the result, it can not come to soon. If the United States intends to stand aloof and let us fight our own battles, then the conservative men of the islands should come together and decide upon some permanent form of government. Anything is better than this dreadful uncertainty."

Shortly after his arrival Minister Thurston wrote the following for publication:

"There is no likelihood of there being any radical change in Honolulu for the present. Matters are in suspense, awaiting developments in Washington, and I do not believe anything will be done for the immediate present."

The supporters of the government are united and unanimous in their approval of the course taken by President Dole, while the royalists have utterly lost hope since the queen's action concerning amnesty to members of the provisional government has come to light. She is condemned by them unspareingly for her action, even the royalist organ doing so editorially. The provisional government was never so strong as it is today.

"Some of the foreign correspondents speak of internal differences. I have just spent two weeks in daily communication with leaders both in and out of the government, and found nothing but the most cordial feeling and earnest determination to stand and act together. Business is at a standstill and the strain of suspense has been and is great, but I heard not the slightest suggestion of weakening or compromise."

Minister Thurston also said that the visit of F. M. Hatch, until recently vice president of the provisional government, is without political significance. He is here merely on business and will return to Honolulu next week.

LAID BEFORE CONGRESS.

The President Sends the Hawaiian Correspondence to Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President Cleveland has transmitted to congress all the Hawaiian correspondence up to date except one message, which for the present is not made public. The document is a very voluminous one, but contains nothing but what has heretofore been published. The president's message on the subject is very brief, and simply turns over the whole Hawaiian affair to him.

Mr. Thurston was asked what would have been the outcome if an attempt to restore her by force had been made.

"That is a matter of conjecture," he replied.

From another gentleman on board the Australia it was learned that the correspondence between Willis and Dole is not yet over. The gentleman who gave the information is intimately connected with the provisional government. He said that after Dole had made his reply to the demand of Willis he addressed another letter to the American minister. REAL TARIFF WORK.

It Will Begin in the House This Week.

THE BILL READ BY SECTIONS.

It Will Be Open to Amendment Under the Five Minute Rule—Utmost Importance That Every Democratic Member Be Present—Probable Program of the Senate and House—Committee Work.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The real work on the tariff bill will commence today when the bill will be read by sections and be open to amendment under the five minute rule. From now on the bill will be in constant danger of amendment and the house Democratic leaders have urged upon all their colleagues the absolute necessity of their continual presence until the final vote is taken.

Chairman Wilson said to an Associated Press reporter:

"It is of the utmost importance that every Democratic member be present in the house from this time until the passage of the tariff bill. Thus far the discussion has been limited to general debate, but from this time forward the actual voting on amendments will proceed from day to day. It will be necessary to maintain a quorum, as the absence at any time of a sufficient number for a vote might involve the loss of a day or two in the consideration of the bill.

"What is of more consequence is that the amending of the bill should be made while the friends of the measure and the majority of the house are present to express their preferences. It would be most unfortunate if amendments were made from day to day through the absence of a sufficient number of Democratic members to prevent them. For this reason it is essential that the Democratic majority should attend the sessions from now until the debate closes, as it will be the only means of avoiding the distortion of the entire measure."

The committee amendments necessary to correct imperfections discovered in the bill will, according to the rule of parliamentary procedure, have the right of way. The amendments which the committee offer are considered pending, and take precedence over amendments offered by individual members. The bill will first be read by sections under the special order, and thereafter be open to amendment in any part.

The Democratic members of the ways and means committee had a meeting yesterday afternoon to decide upon the amendments to be offered. It will probably happen, as in the case of the McKinley bill, that the special order will expire with many individual amendments pending but not voted upon.

The decision of the Democratic members of the committee to report the income tax and other internal revenue features of the committee's revenue plan as a separate measure removes one of the main dangers to the bill, as the opposition to the income tax feature was formidable, especially in the east and some of it was of such character, that had the proposition been placed in this bill, it would have arrayed many Democratic members against the whole measure.

The fact that the proposition was not included in the bill will, it is thought, strengthen the attempt to remove the sugar bounty and substitute its stead a duty of 1 cent on sugar. Should this be done it would raise $35,000,000 of revenue and save $10,000,000 of sugar bounty, and remove the necessity for and probably kill the income tax proposition, which it is now the purpose of the committee to present later with the internal revenue bill.

It is not believed that the attempts to restore a portion of the duty on coal, iron ore, lumber and other raw materials placed on the free list in the bill will be successful.

According to a careful canvass of the house, made by the friends of the measure, it would seem that this particular opposition lacks both cohesion and the numerical strength to carry the amendments through. Little Democratic opposition to the bill has manifested itself during the general debate, and the Democratic members of the committee express confidence that the bill will go through practically in an unamended form, with the possible exception of the sugar schedule.

On this proposition the committee itself is divided, those favoring an individual income tax supporting the free sugar proposition and the opponents of the income tax, led by Chairman Wilson, favor the restoration of the sugar duty in order to do away with the necessity for an income tax.

The great difficulty in the way of the modification of the bill in this particular, however, even if it should develop great strength on the Democratic side, is that the Republicans will not vote to remove a duty on sugar which was placed on the free list by the McKinley law.

Committee Work.

The most important committee work of the coming week will be that before the ways and means committee, where the internal revenue bill is still under consideration. Up to last Friday it was practically settled that the measure should contain an income tax, an increased tax on whisky and taxes on playing cards and cigarettes. But by the unexpected change of attitude of Representative Bynum in moving a reconsideration of the internal revenue features, there is much doubt as to what the committee will ultimately do with the bill. The members have agreed, however, that the work on the bill shall be completed so as to go before the house on next Thursday. It was also determined to report the bill as a separate measure, although caucus action may yet be taken in order to have the bill introduced as an amendment to the pending tariff bill.

The bond question has been referred to the ways and means committee, but no action whatever has been taken on the subject as yet. The bill of Representative Harter for an issue of bonds, and the bill of Representative O'Neill of Massachusetts for a loan in anticipation of revenues, are both before the committee, but Mr. Wilson says that he has not had time even to refer them to the respective subcommittees which will consider them.

The elections committee will continue the consideration of the Williams-Settle case, with a prospect of reaching a conclusion at an early day.

The appropriation committee is making fair progress on the large bills.

Representatives Otis and Wolverton of the committee on the judiciary will offer a minority report against the Bailey bankruptcy bill. Other than this the committee is engaged on the bills of minor importance.

The committee on foreign affairs have reported all the Hawaiian resolutions presented to them. The mass of correspondence submitted by President Cleveland has been referred to this committee, and it will determine at the meeting next Thursday what course is to be adopted in reference to it.

Program of the Senate.

According to the program agreed upon by the senate last week the consideration of the federal elections bill will be first taken up. The indications, however, are very strong that the measure will go over for at least a day or two. Should Senator Gray persist in his effort to have the agreement adhered to, his action would probably be antagonized by some who are friendly to the bill, who will ask the senate to go into executive session early in the day for the consideration of the Hornblower nomination. If that question is taken up there is little doubt that it will consume the entire day, as there will in all probability be a spirited discussion over it.

If Senator Hill, who is supposed to be leading the opposition to Judge Hornblower, could have his way, the vote would probably be taken without any speechmaking whatever, but it is presumed that the friends of Mr. Hornblower will wish to be heard.

Under existing circumstances a Hawaiian speech is always possible, although there is a disposition to allow this subject to rest until the foreign relations committee can conclude its investigation and make its report.

Senator Gallinger has given notice of a tariff speech, but it as well as the elections bill may be crowded over until later in the week.

The probabilities are that an executive session in which the Hornblower nomination will be the chief subject of consideration, will consume the greater part of the day and possibly of more than one day during the week that the federal elections bill will be taken up for final disposition, although its consideration may not be completed this week, and that there may be a speech or two on the tariff and as many or more on Hawaii. There will, of necessity, be more or less routine work, and the passage of some of the minor bills on the calendar, is also among the probabilities.

LOST IN PARIS.

Young Webster Missing For Twelve Days.

$5,000 Reward For Him.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Edward Webster, an American schoolboy, disappeared from a railroad train near Paris 12 days ago under circumstances that are peculiarly mysterious.

His mother, Mrs. Theodore Conkling, of 64 West Seventieth street, was informed of his disappearance only Thursday afternoon, after the Parisian police detectives had searched the morgue, the hospitals and other institutions without finding trace of him. Mrs. Conkling was prostrated by the news.

Her husband immediately cabled to Paris offering $5,000 reward, to be paid by John Munroe & Company, bankers in Paris, to anyone who will furnish information of the lost boy's whereabouts. Young Webster is only 17 years old, but he looks like a man of 21 or 22 years.

Death of an Old Banker.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—Samuel H. Mather, one of the oldest bankers of Cleveland, died yesterday after a brief illness, aged 80 years. In 1849 Mr. Mather organized a society for savings. The bank started in a room 20 feet square, which was also occupied by an insurance company, and the assets were locked up each night in a tin box. The society now has deposits aggregating $23,000,000, with a surplus of $1,700,000. Mr. Mather was first secretary and treasurer, and in 1883 he was elected president, which office he held at the time of his death.

After Waggoner, the Wife Murderer.

SHOALS, Ind., Jan. 15.—Sheriff Cannon received private information of the whereabouts of Sherman Waggoner, the wife murderer, and left immediately for the retreat of the criminal. He has organized a strong posse and will surround the place. Waggoner has numerous relatives who are shielding him.

Cattle Feed Factory Burned.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The large premises at King's Cross, occupied by Joseph Thorley as a manufactory of cattle feed, was burned yesterday. The loss is £70,000.

Secretary Carlisle Must Provide Some Method of Relief

TO RESTORE THE GOLD RESERVE.

Unless Congress Takes Some Immediate Action the Administration Will Pursue the Only Course Left Open and Issue Bonds Under the Law of 1875—Views of Prominent Financiers on the Subject.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Some decisive action to replenish the gold reserve in the treasury will be taken within the next few weeks. If congress does not take kindly to the suggestions offered by Secretary Carlisle in his annual report, and provide at once some method of relief, the only course left is for the treasury department to issue bonds for the purpose of maintaining the gold reserve.

The position which confronts the administration is one which they have decided to handle with promptness. All the available money now in the treasury department consists of the so-called "gold reserve" which has now been invaded to the extent of $23,000,000, and by the first of the month the treasury department believes that the total amount will have been reduced to $63,000,000. Such a situation, it is thought, would again start a movement of gold towards Europe, which would still further reduce the amount of gold held in the United States.

Secretary Carlisle has twice appeared before the committee on finance, and his presentation of the case to the members of that committee has been clear and explicit in his statement of the situation. When he next appears before

An Enjoyable Evening.

The Washington Cooking Club was royally entertained by Miss Margaret Allison last Friday evening. The house was brilliantly decorated. A "circulating library" was the chief amusement of the evening. Each guest was dressed to represent the title of some book, and the ingenuity of the rest was taxed in identifying them. A delicious supper was served at 11 o'clock. Miss Margaret bears an enviable reputation, gained by her charming manners in entertaining. Those present were Misses Ethel and Nannie Gault, Mayme Key, Ida Power, Sallie and Elizabeth Downing, Mollie Boyd, Lelah Martin, Phoebe Forman, Elizabeth Key, Cornelius Downing, Fannie Gault, Fannie Bramel, Elizabeth Power, Maud and Stella Downing, Ida Allison, Anna Rhodes, Jessie and Bessie Allison, Mrs. Charles Hunter, Mrs. J. UNDERPAID CLERGY.

The Trials and Final Reward of an English Curate in the Eighteenth Century.

A great deal is heard from time to time about the underpaid clergy. It has been recently said by an English writer that "there are many clerks in holy orders who receive less than clerks in linen draper's shops." This is especially true in Europe, where the clergy, or at least the curates, are paid such miserably poor stipends that but for the generosity of the parishioners they could not live.

In the United States, too, the clergyman, usually a college bred man of talents and refinement, receives a salary altogether out of proportion to his calling and his ability. This remark does not apply to the clergy in the large cities, to many of whom are paid very large salaries. In New York city, for example, it is said that there are 100 ministers who receive salaries of $10,000, and many of them have rectories or parish houses free in addition. But in the country towns, east and west alike, the minister who gets $2,000 is a rare exception. Many, perhaps the majority, do not receive as much as $1,000.

While the reflection may not prove of tangible benefit to these underpaid servants in the highest of callings, still it is interesting to know that in a social and in a financial way, and in the self respect consequent upon these conditions, the clergyman of today is vastly better off than the chaplain or curate of a century ago. In point of abject poverty there are no vicars of Wakefield today, nor any chaplains who figure as jesters or buffoons, as did many of the more favored ones of Goldsmith's day.

The following extract from The Gentleman's Magazine of 1766 shows how poor was the lot of the curate of that time:

"Monday—Received £10 from my rector, being one-half year's salary; obliged to wait a long time before my admittance to the doctor, and even when admitted was never once asked to sit down or refresh myself, though I had walked 11 miles. Item—The doctor hinted he could have the curacy filled for £15 a year.

"Tuesday—Paid £9 to seven different people, but could not buy the secondhand pair of black breeches offered me as a great bargain, my wife wanting a petticoat above all things, and neither Betsy nor Polly having a shoe to go to church.

"Wednesday—My wife bought a petticoat for herself and sheet for her two daughters, but unluckily, in coming home, dropped half a guinea through a hole which she had never before perceived in her pocket and reduced all our cash in the world to half a crown. Item—Chid my poor woman for being afflicted at the misfortune and tenderly advised her to depend upon the goodness of God.

"Thursday—Received a note from the alehouse at the top of the hill, informing me that a gentleman begged to speak to me on pressing business. Went and found it was an unfortunate member of a strolling company of players, who was pledged for sevenpence half penny. In a struggle what to do. The baker, though we had paid him but on Tuesday, quarelled with us, to avoid giving any credit in future, and the butcher sent us word that he heard it whispered how the rector intended to take a curate who would do the parish duty at an inferior price, and therefore, though he would do anything to serve me, advised me to deal at the upper end of the town. Mortifying reflections these, but want of humility is, in my opinion, a want of justice. The Father of the universe lends his blessings to us, with a view that we should relieve one another, and we consequently do no more than pay a debt when we perform an act of benevolence. Paid the stranger's reckoning out of the shilling in my pocket and gave him the remainder of the money to prosecute his journey.

"Friday—A very scant dinner, and pretended therefore to be ill, that, by availing to eat, I might leave something like enough for my poor wife and children. I told my wife what I had done with the shilling; the excellent creature, instead of blaming me for the action, blessed the goodness of my heart and burst into tears. Mem.—Never to contradict her as long as I live, for the mind that can argue like hers, though it may deviate from the more rigid sentiments of prudence, is even amiable for its indiscretion, and in every lapse from the severity of economy performs an act of virtue, superior to the value of a kingdom.

"Saturday—Wrote a sermon, which on Sunday I preached at four different parish churches, and came home excessively wearied and excessively hungry; no more money than twopence half penny in the house, but you see the goodness of God! The strolling player whom I had relieved was a man of fortune, who accidentally heard that I was as humane as I was indulgent, and from a generous eccentricity of temper wanted to do me an essential piece of service. I had not been an hour at home when he came in, and declaring himself my friend put a £50 note in my hand, and the next day presented me with a living of £800 a year."

A CANNING FACTORY FOR A FARM.

NASHVILLE, TENN., January 11, 1890.

Editor Bulletin: I am owner of the Capital Canning Company, the largest factory in the South, and desire to move it from the city to the country where I can get vegetables and fruits without the market competition. Will therefore exchange a half interest in it for half interest in a good farm, so as to raise our own vegetables. Original cost of plant, labels, can-making machinery and vinegar plan about $17,000. A big bargain for the right party can be had. Yours truly,

The Angora cat is peculiar. When its fur is entirely white, the animal is invariably blind, but when there is even the slightest tinge of color the vision is as perfect as in any other normal cat. DR. JOHN P. PHISTER.

Death Claims a Well Known Physician and Highly Esteemed Citizen.

He Passed Away Sunday Morning, After a Brief Illness—Sketch of the Deceased.

Maysville lost one of her well known and highly esteemed citizens early Sunday morning.

At ten minutes past nine o'clock Dr. John P. Phister answered the final summons and passed peacefully away.

He had been lingering for several days in the very shadow of death, and the sad news that the end had come was not unexpected.

Sometime ago Dr. Phister was struck down by what was thought to be a violent attack of the grip. He was at his office at Chenoweth's drug store at the time, and became so ill that he had to be removed to his home in a conveyance.

A severe congestion of the brain resulted, and meningitis followed. His condition, serious from the first, soon became very critical. The disease did not yield to medical treatment and the most faithful nursing, and some days ago it was realized that the end was near at hand. He lingered until Sunday morning at the hour named, when he crossed the silent river.

Deceased was a son of the late Conard Phister, and was sixty-seven years of age on the 10th of last month. Educated in the public schools of Maysville and the Rand & Richeson Seminary, he then began the study of medicine under the late Dr. John Shackleford, graduating at the Louisville University on March 8th, 1848. Returning to Maysville the rest of his life was spent in the practice of his chosen profession.

Deceased was one of the most prominent Oddfellows in Kentucky. He early connected himself with the order in this city, and was a charter member of Ringgold Lodge No. 27. He was active and zealous in his work in the interests of the order, and was finally honored with the position of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the State. He was in later years twice honored with the position of Grand Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge. He was also a member of Pisgah Encampment, and had served as Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment of the State. In addition to this, deceased was a member of Confidence Lodge, F. and A. M., and Limestone Lodge No. 36, K. of P. He was one of the charter members of the lodge last named, and always took an active interest in the work of the lodge from the date of its organization.

For a number of years deceased took a prominent part in the municipal affairs of the city. He served several terms in the City Council, and was honored with the position of President of that body several years in succession.

Forty-one years ago last Saturday Dr. Phister was united in marriage to Miss Anna Poynz, a daughter of the late Nathaniel Poynz. She survives him, and he leaves three children—Lieutenant Nat P. Phister, of the U. S. Army, Mrs. Basil Duke, of this city, and Mrs. Herbert N. Reno, of Walnut Hills, Cincinnati.

Deceased was one of a family of nine children. Of these, his brother, Charles, his sister, Mrs. Mary Ralston, and two half brothers, Mr. Chambers Phister, of Newport, and Wharfmaster C. M. Phister survive him. Ex-Congressman E. C. Phister, another brother of deceased, preceded him to the grave a few years ago.

Endowed with unusual vigor of mind and body, of an agreeable disposition and pleasant manners, and a fine conversationalist, deceased was popular among his wide circle of friends, who will learn with sincere sorrow of his death.

The funeral will be under the auspices of the Oddfellows and Knight of Pythias and will occur at the Central Presbyterian Church, the pastor, Rev. W. O. Cochran, officiating. It will be held to-morrow, (Tuesday), afternoon at 1 o'clock. These are the present arrangements, but a change may be made if some friends who are expected should fail to arrive.

The grand jury at Frankfort has indicted N. T. Mitchell, Lewis Weitzel, W. N. Hefner and Wm. Nicols, the officers in the "Craw" precinct, for failing to make returns of the last election, which brought about a contest for every city office from Mayor and Councilmen down, and leaving the city without officers since December 5. The jury also brought indictments for nuisances against the city and roared all the city officers, claiming that the work house was kept in a filthy and unwholesome condition.

Speaker Carroll put him on the very best committees of the House."

NEW BILLS.

A Number of Them Introduced in the Legislature—Proceedings of the House and Senate.

Many new bills were introduced in the House Friday. One by Furnish, of Boone, to provide for regulating county and town co-operative fire insurance companies.

By Mr. Matthews, of Mason—Act to amend sixth-class city charter.

By Mr. Bainbridge—Act to repeal Owen County local option law.

By Mr. Denny—An act relative to voluntary assignments for benefit of creditors.

By Mr. Vance—Bill providing that the Clerk of the Court of Appeals shall have no pay for records filed in his office when furnished to lawyers. The Clerk of the court says if this bill is passed it means a virtual confiscation of the office, as it will not pay them actual running expenses.

By Mr. Cooper—An act to confine the duties of officers of sixth-class towns to the corporate limits of such towns.

By Mr. Hale—An act to amend the private Corporation law so as to require banks to keep on hand at all times at least 15 per cent. of the total deposits, and in cities of over 50,000 at least 25 per cent. of its deposits, one third of which reserve shall be in money, and the balance may be in funds payable on demand or deposits in other banks.

By Mr. Trimble—An act to make the provisions of the State Pharmacy law relative to the sale of drugs apply to towns of 1,000 or less population.

By Mr. Trimble—Bill increasing clerical force of Auditor's office, made necessary by work increased under operations or new legislation.

By Mr. Finley—Bill requiring employers to pay laborers at the end of every two weeks on demand.

By Mr. Head—Bill giving to medical colleges the right to utilize the bodies of deceased persons in certain cases. Colleges are required to notify relations of deceased when it is possible to do so.

In the Senate Mr. Salyers introduced a bill which authorizes the Court of Claims and fiscal courts of the several counties to issue and direct the sale of bonds for the purpose of repair or building court houses, jails and other county buildings; also, forbidding agents of express companies, railroads or steamboats from receiving consignments of liquor or other intoxicants in local option towns.

Senator Jones' bill to dock Legislators and other public officers for absenteeism was killed by a large majority.

Senator Ellison, of Grant County, introduced a bill to reduce the specific tax on residential building associations from $10 to $2 with each annual report.

Senator Gross, of Breckinridge, introduced a bill in regard to charitable institutions.

Mr. Searey's bill abolishing the State Board of Equalization, was ordered to its second reading. It has a chance to pass.

Senator Hodge, of Lexington, introduced a bill providing for the appointment in each lunatic asylum in the State of one assistant female physician, to have charge of the female wards.

The Joint Judiciary Committee began the investigation asked for by Attorney General Hendrick. These investigations were asked because of a clause in Governor Brown's message reflecting on the Attorney General, and alleging that he had compromised, without warrant of law, assessments made by the Railroad Commissioners against railroad property.

The Follett-Gilliam contest was decided Friday in the House, in favor of the Democrat. The vote for Representative in Allen County at the last election was a tie, and in the casting of lots, as provided by law, Follett, the Democratic candidate, won. One ballot, irregularly marked, was not counted. Gilliam, the Republican candidate, claimed that this ballot was intended for him. The committee, composed of seven Democrats and one Republican and one Populist, concluded that this ballot was evidently intended for Gilliam, and if counted would have elected him. They held, however, that as it had not been counted by the election officers, it was void, the committee having no authority to go behind the returns.

Speaking of Representative Matthews, the Covington Post says: "He is one of the best informed men in Mason County. He is now holding his first public office. He made a clean fight over strong Republican opposition, and won without spending a penny in his canvass. Maysville business men regard Mr. Mathews as an able Legislator. Speaker Carroll put him on the very best committees of the House."

THE series of meetings begun in the Christian Church last week will be continued for some time. Services every evening this week at 7:30 o'clock, in the main auditorium, conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. B. Cade. Subject to-night: "Lame Ducks; or Influences May Be Lost." The members of the church are urged to attend. The public cordially invited.

THREE HUNDRED BURNED.
Most of Them Women and Children,
Caused by a Boy and His Cigarette.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—The Pacific Mail steamship City of Pekin brought details from Ningpo of one of the most terrible fires on record, which occurred in the big temple in that city Dec. 12, and caused the death of nearly 300 women and children. The annual theatrical performance in honor of the gods was being given in the temple.

A boy threw a lighted cigarette into a heap of straw which blazed up, and the burning staircase prevented the people getting out. There was a general rush to escape; some were trampled to death, others jumped out of the windows and were killed or so badly injured they were unable to escape the flames and so perished, while others passively awaited their fate, which was not long in overtaking them, and they were roasted alive or suffocated by the smoke.

Paymaster Held Up and Robbed.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 15.—Jacob Parton, paymaster for Moyle Brothers of this city, was held up by Mexican highwaymen near Ixtlahuaca Saturday night and nearly killed. He was on his way to pay the cutters in one of the Moyle camps, with over $700 for the workmen, and lost it all. It is supposed the robbers knew of the paymaster's movements and laid their plans accordingly. He was badly hurt in the fight.

A Domestic Tragedy.

Dear reader, we will not tell you what he is saying to her, but that is his wife listening. Let us hear what she says to him when he comes out.

"Oh, George! Could you persuade her? Did she promise you she would not leave? Oh! she did! I can see it by your face!" —Puck.

Queer Salutations.

The Abyssinians drop on their knees and kiss the earth when they meet. In saluting a woman the Mandinkas take her hand, put it to their nose and smell it twice. The Egyptians stretch out one hand, then lay it on their breast and bow the head. Among the less civilized tribes of the old world, say the Kalmyks and in Polynesia, the custom of rubbing noses is pretty general. Perhaps the most extraordinary form of salutation is to be found in Tibet, where the natives put out their tongues, gnash their teeth and scratch their ears.—Lander and Volkertkunde.

Islands Through Jealousy.

SHOALS, Ind., Jan. 15.—Charles Ames, a prominent farmer residing four miles south of this city, took his revolver from a bureau drawer and remarked to his wife that he intended to end his earthly career. She grabbed hold of the revolver and endeavored to take it from him. He jerked it away from her with the remark that he held it with a death grip, and jumping out of the door, went down a path about 80 feet, and placing the revolver back of his ear, pulled the trigger and lodged a ball in his brains, killing himself instantly. He was jealous of his wife and they had separated, but had gone to living together again upon his promise to do better, but he became insane brooding over the matter.

Negro Desperado Put Out of the Way.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 15.—A special to The Times-Union from Rochester, Fla., says: Thursday night Charles Willis, a negro desperado, was shot and seriously wounded by Thomas Petrower, a white man. The parties were evidently afraid the negro would recover from the wound inflicted by Petrower.

Hundreds of People Victimized.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Jan. 15.—Within the past week a number of letters have been received from parties in Tennessee and Missouri asking about lots they had purchased in Cherokee City, O. T. Investigation reveals the fact that a couple of sharks have been victimizing hundreds of people all through the south by selling them lots in Cherokee City, which they represent to be the coming great city of Oklahoma. Cherokee City is, in fact, a city on paper alone, located on barren land and in the extreme western part of the territory. The lots are not worth the paper the deeds are written on.

There was no explanation for the tragedy, and it is attributed to drink on the part of Hoffman.
